Student Digest and Faculty Newsletters

Service type	Promotion
Provided by	Office of External Relations, University of Alberta; various Faculty and Department offices and groups, University of Alberta
Available to	All registered student groups for student group related messaging
Website	U of A website; see table for additional information

The University of Alberta compiles and sends weekly email digests to all students and employees. Digest emails include information, events and opportunities from across the institution and are distributed beginning at 8 a.m. on Wednesdays.

Digest emails are sent to recipient's U of A email addresses based on their current affiliation with the institution. Recipients cannot opt-out of receiving digest emails, however they can manage the kind of information they receive.

The digests are helpful tools to communicate with internal audiences at the U of A. All members of the university, with an active CCID, can submit information, events and opportunities to be included in email digests.

Find more information on best practices for digest submissions here.

UASU staff have put together a convenient table to offer Faculty and Deparment-specific newsletter information! This table was last updated in December 2025. We recommend you confirm information by contacting relevant stakeholders before proceeding. If you find any of this information has changed, please contact clubs@uasu.ca to let us know.
